

Development support for Ukraine

BMZ contribution to the engagement of the German government (as at October 2022)

The Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ) has reacted quickly and effectively to Russia's war of aggression against Ukraine, using the full range of instruments at its disposal. So far, some 600 million euros has been made available from the BMZ's budget in order to provide development support for Ukraine.

The BMZ has been able to rely here on established partners and to draw on 20 years' experience of development cooperation with Ukraine. The projects are being implemented in particular via the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) and the KfW Group (KfW), and also in collaboration with the EU, the United Nations and the World Bank. Further important elements of our engagement in Ukraine are municipal partnership work and cooperation with civil society.

Emergency programme set up after the war started

The BMZ's emergency support programme for Ukraine, which was set up after the start of the war on 24 February, is endowed with a total of 185 million euros. The priority areas of the programme include procuring accommodation for internally displaced persons, support for municipalities and for civil protection, and providing medical supplies.

The BMZ is contributing towards mitigating the impacts of the war for the population and securing basic services (incl. water, sanitation, health and energy supply) for the population – especially for displaced families and other vulnerable population groups.

Medium-term support is continuing

The emergency programme, which was set up as a crisis response, is currently being enlarged to include the goal of assisting Ukraine in coping in a structural sense with the dramatic economic and social impacts of the acute war situation.

At the Ukraine Recovery Conference in Lugano in early July 2022, Federal Minister Svenja Schulze pledged additional funding to be used to continue providing support for Ukraine, including 406 million euros from the BMZ's budget. These funds will be used over the next few months to support central and local government structures in particular as they strive to provide for internally displaced persons and keep basic public services running.

Reconstruction of Ukraine

The reconstruction will be a mammoth undertaking. It is important to make sure, now, that the right course is taken. As the lead ministry within the German government for civilian support for Ukraine, the BMZ will be working at the international level to ensure that the reconstruction efforts with Ukraine are partnership-based, sustainable, inclusive and reform-oriented.

What is the BMZ doing specifically?

Examples from the BMZ emergency programme:

→ We are supplying Ukraine with life-saving equipment.

- The first deliveries of protective clothing, respiratory protective devices and fire extinguishers were already handed over to our Ukrainian partners on the eighth day of the war. Since then other equipment has followed, including about 40 firefighting and search-and-rescue vehicles, 1,700 respiratory protective devices, firefighting helmets and masks, tools and equipment, and fire hoses.
- Since February 2022, together with the EU and other donors, we have been supplying urgently needed equipment to Ukrainian municipalities that had been receiving assistance for implementing administrative reforms from us before the start of the war. Goods have been transported from Poland to Ukraine by road using 156 heavy goods vehicles. These goods include 2,430 generators that local authorities can use to set up public “warming centres”, for example.
- A consignment of 900 first aid kits was delivered to 19 partner municipalities, while 38 communities received hygiene products and items for personal care.

→ We are creating accommodation for people who have been displaced.

- Via a project with the International Organization for Migration (IOM), accommodation is being created for at least 7,000 internally displaced persons in Ukraine. To do this, shelters are being refurbished, public buildings are being converted for use as accommodation and pre-fabricated buildings are being erected.
- In Lviv and Chernivtsi we are supporting efforts to provide supplies and accommodation for internally displaced persons, e.g. in 55 student halls belonging to vocational training schools. So far, 22,000 units of baby food, 5,500 pillows, 4,000 mattresses, 1,500 blankets and 1,500 folding beds have been delivered to the halls.

→ We are offering psycho-social counselling for displaced persons – especially for women and children.

- Since the start of the war, 3,300 psycho-social counselling sessions have been provided for staff in social and medical facilities (shelters, hospitals).
- At the same time, measures are being implemented to strengthen the resilience of both internally displaced persons and the inhabitants of host communities – e.g. by offering psychotherapy and short vocational training schemes.

→ We are strengthening the infrastructure in Ukraine.

- Through German development cooperation we are supporting the rehabilitation of the electricity network and also the infrastructure for water, education and housing.
- This means, in concrete terms, for example: Together with Plan International we are rehabilitating or refurbishing child-friendly social and physical infrastructure (schools, libraries, kindergartens and youth centres) in four administrative districts. With these activities we will be able to reach a total of about 38,000 people; around 80 per cent of them are youth between the ages of 14 and 18, and more than half of them are female. We are also working with arche noVa in the liberated areas in northern Ukraine to make living accommodation fit to be used again and to rebuild infrastructure that has been destroyed. These measures are directly benefiting 24,500 people, more than half of whom are women.

→ We are helping to improve access to education.

- We are supporting existing education structures and are also providing additional educational offerings for internally displaced persons.
- A total of 21 newly developed online training courses have helped make it possible for vocational training schools to continue offering classes.
- More than 2,000 trainees have taken part in interactive online learning cafes, of whom 1,000 are internally displaced persons. Half of the trainees were girls and young women.
- Careers seminars, advice on how to continue studying and training courses have been offered to more than 400 young people.
- There are also offers for unemployed adults. For 1,000 such adults, further training in IT is currently being offered.

→ We are helping to ensure the provision of health care and social services.

- In collaboration with UNICEF, numerous communities are being given assistance to help them provide improved social services. Thanks to these measures, 4 million children affected by the conflict and their families are to receive support.
- In addition, together with Caritas, we are making 5 social centres available, which will serve about 23,000 people. Apart from that, 15 hospitals and health centres have received surgical equipment, and 34 social and medical facilities have received rehab equipment. Over the next few weeks, 55 medical and social facilities are to receive additional equipment to help them through the winter months and beyond.
- As part of several German-Ukrainian clinic partnerships, medicines and surgical equipment are being provided for clinics in various regions of Ukraine (incl. Kyiv, Lviv and Kharkiv) and training is being carried out.

Examples from our medium-term support for Ukraine:

→ We are taking from the Ukrainian government some of the burden of supporting people who have been displaced and of maintaining essential services for its citizens.

- The BMZ is providing 200 million euros that the Ukrainian government is using to support children and adults who have been displaced from their homes. This amount corresponds to the assistance for more than 3 million people for one month.
- Added to that is an amount of 50 million euros that we are making available in an international aid fund under the auspices of the World Bank. These funds will facilitate the continuing employment of Ukrainian teachers, for example.

→ We are supporting German-Ukrainian municipal partnerships.

- We are supporting 107 German-Ukrainian municipal partnerships via advice and the funding of assistance, and by providing platforms for exchange.
- For example, we are making available 5 million euros for the procurement of urgently needed goods (medicinal products, municipal vehicles, meals, assistance for children and young people, protection against the cold).

- In addition, we are supporting water utility partnerships where German municipal water utilities are standing by their Ukrainian partners to help secure water supplies.

→ We are supporting small and medium-sized enterprises.

- With financial resources as transitional development assistance for small and medium-sized enterprises, damage caused by bombing can be repaired and we can help to make sure that businesses survive and jobs are not lost.
- Companies from critical production sectors are also being supported, so that for example the availability of metal roofs, doors and windows can be improved.
- Just via one GIZ programme, roughly 300 companies have so far received a total of 1.5 million euros.

→ We are strengthening democratic and civil society structures.

- We are strengthening the work of the political foundations so that they are able to continue working in and outside Ukraine under the now changed conditions.
- Promoting Ukrainian media centres and supporting media companies and regional creators of media content is of key importance. On the one hand for the purpose of providing information for volunteer centres, internally displaced persons and partner schemes, on the other hand in order to counteract the spread of so-called fake news.

→ We are working closely with international partners.

- By increasing our voluntary core contributions, we are making it possible for international organisations to continue their ongoing programmes and activities in Ukraine and the region in response to the global social and economic impacts, and be able to react quickly.
- We are working with the World Bank, the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the International Organization for Migration (IOM), UN Women, the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and the World Food Programme (WFP).
- This means, in concrete terms, for example: Through our funding for the UNICEF fund Education Cannot Wait, we want to make it possible for children and young people to have a safe learning environment and psychosocial support. In addition, we are making funding available to UNDP, for example, so that the Ukrainian government's emergency management can be continued, and to UN Women so that information and counselling can be provided that meets the specific needs of Ukrainian women and girls.
